ANOTHER MATCH WEEKLY EXCLUSIVE . . . BIG DAVE WATSON TELLS HOW A MOVE TO STOKE SAVED HIS CAREER . . . AND HOW HE PLANS TO WIN BACK HIS ENGLAND SHIRT

DAVE Watson revealed this week that he thought about quitting football when he was languishing in Southampton's reserve team.

But after his £50,000 move to Stoke, Dave is back in the limelight and has his sights set firmly on a return to the England side and a place in the World Cup Finals in Spain.

Dave lost his England place after Southampton manager Lawrie McMenemy dropped the 35-year-old centre half in October last year and he missed his country's vital qualifier against Hungary.

Now he admits: "While I was in the reserves at The Dell I seriously considered retiring from football. "But joining Stoke has come at a crucial time in my career and it's just the boost my World Cup hopes needed.

"I was never going to play for England again while I was playing in the reserves. Moving to Stoke is the biggest lift I've ever had.

"The World Cup Finals are the biggest competition you can play in. It's an ambition I've wanted to realise for the last 14 years," he added.

Chance

And Dave still believes that he's got a good chance of making the trip with the 21 other members of the England squad.

"The number five shirt is still up for grabs. No-one else has impressed in that position even though Russell Osman, Alvin Martin and Terry Butcher are in contention.

"I know I can still do a job for England in the number five shirt. I've got the experience to do the job," said Dave, who's been England's regular centre-half since 1977.

"Realistically, I've only got about six months left as an international centre-half, but the move to Stoke has given me hope. I know I'm in contention for a place in England's World Cup squad.

"I was very disappointed not to be picked for the game against Hungary at Wembley but I knew my chances were limited," said Dave.

"As it turned out, on the night anyone could have played number five against the Hungarians. West Ham's Alvin Martin didn't have that much to do."

The end of Dave's two-and-a-half-year stay on the south coast began after Saints' 4-0 thrashing at Birmingham in October. The defeat brought their defensive record to 15 goals conceded in just four games.

"We suffered a run of bad results and the manager decided that changes were needed," said Dave.

Dropped

"After that, results picked up and my chances of first team football at The Dell dwindled. But I don't think the upturn in Southampton's form had anything to do with my being dropped. It was just a coincidence.

"I'm absolutely delighted that Stoke manager Richie Barker has given me a chance of playing in the First Division again," said Dave, who started his career with his home town club, Notts County.

"I enjoyed myself at Southampton and, during my time there, we were pretty successful. Last season we finished sixth in the First Division and that was their best ever League position. We also had a couple of good cup runs.

"But I always wanted to end my playing days in the North of England so the move to the Victoria Ground is ideal for me," added Dave.

In fact, most of Dave's playing career has been spent up north. He saw service with Rotherham, Sunderland and Manchester City before a short and unhappy spell with West German club Werder Bremen.

He picked up an FA Cup winners medal with Second Division Sunderland and was a member of Manchester City's League Cup winning side of 1976.

Ironically, his debut for Stoke was against City at Maine Road — a club where he made 146 League appearances.

"I still have a lot of friends up in Manchester and it was a great place to start my Stoke career," said Dave, who impressed in his

WATSON

OUR 'Target Spain' spotlight this week switches from the young hopefuls to one of the 'old' campaigners bidding to regain his place in the England side.

Out of favour at both club and international level, the career of Dave Watson as a top level performer looked to be drawing to a close.

Now his move to Stoke has given him a new lease of life . . . and new hope for Spain.

But, as reporter Anthony Hawksell discovers, it nearly came too late . . .

NEARLY QUIT says Dave Watson

new team's 1-1 draw against the championship challengers.

Dave had no problems settling down in the Stoke defence because he paired up with his old Maine Road team-mate Mike Doyle.

"Even though I hadn't trained with the lads before my debut, I was happy with the way I settled in to the side. It was great to meet up with Mike again," he admitted.

Now Dave, who signed an 18 month contract with the Midlands club, is looking forward to helping the team up the First Division . . . and of course helping his own England ambitions.

Right: West Ham's Alvin Martin proudly steps out at Wembley for the friendly against Brazil. He also claimed the number five shirt for the crucial World Cup qualifier against Hungary, but, says Dave Watson: "Anyone could have played centre-half that night."

Far right: Dave Watson in the England shirt that he hopes to win back for Spain.

WEST Brom, who at the beginning of the season looked as though they would face a grim battle to stay in the First Division, were named as the Omega/Variety Club 'Team of the Month' for December.

A panel that included Sir Stanley Rous, Bobby Charlton and Frank McLintock felt Albion provided the most entertaining football and charisma during the month.

Manager Ronnie Allen and the players received replica momentos and a £2,000 cheque was presented to the Variety Club from the sponsors, Omega Chewing Gum, towards a Sunshine Coach.

LEEDS midfield player Alex Sabella has returned home to Argentina.

He has joined Estudiantes for £100,000, a quarter of what Leeds paid Sheffield United for his services in May 1980.

He arrived in England in July 1978 when Sheffield United couldn't afford the World Cup duo of Osvaldo Ardiles and Ricky Villa.

United invited Tottenham to take over their interest and settled for buying Alex from River Plate for a modest £160,000.

GEORGE Kerr became the first managerial casualty of the year when sacked by Second Division strugglers Grimsby.

He took Grimsby to within five points of the First Division last season just three years after guiding the Humberside club from Division Four.

But with 14 months of a three-year contract left to run and the club facing a grim relegation battle, he was sacked two days after a home defeat by Orient.

IPSWICH went to the top of the First Division on January 5 with a 3-2 home victory over Birmingham.

And it was almost one year to the day that they did the very same thing with a 5-1 crushing of Birmingham at Portman Road.

Two of the scorers that night, Paul Mariner and Alan Brazil, were also on target this time, and the victory came just three days after Ipswich had beaten Birmingham in the FA Cup at St Andrews.

Barnsley's Banks- the new Charlton

BARNESLEY'S Ian Banks, who has made a big contribution to his side's record-breaking League Cup run, was the Robinson's Barley Water 'Young Player of the Month' for December.

He was chosen by a panel that included England manager Ron Greenwood, his Welsh adversary Mike England plus Bobby Collins, Jackie Milburn, Joe Mercer, Stan Cullis and Bill Nicholson.

Yorkshire panellist Bobby Collins, the former Leeds and Scotland forward, said: "Ian reminds me very much of a young Bobby Charlton. He can beat people both ways and can hit a ball with both feet.

"Leeds were talking about £250,000 . . . but he's worth double that."

Bob Greenwood added: "I was League Cup win

"Leeds were talking about £250,000 . . . but he's worth double that."

England boss Ron Greenwood added: "I was very impressed by the lad in the League Cup win over Manchester City. He will obviously figure in next season's reckoning for the England Under-21 side."

COLIN'S A COMIC STRIP HERO

THE League Cup threw up one of those fairytale moments when Barnsley's third choice striker Colin Walker (left) was pitched into the big-time at Liverpool.

It was a Boys Own comic strip story with a former dustman being hauled off the scrap heap to face the European Champions in his senior debut.

And the young striker almost produced a dramatic winner for the Second Division giantkillers in the goalless Quarter-Final at Anfield.

It was quite a trip for Colin through soccer's backwaters to the dazzling heights of a debut in front of the famous Kop.

He broke his leg twice in 11 months as a 17-year-old amateur at Barnsley before moving to non-League Matlock and then crossed the other side of the world to New Zealand.

At one time he worked as a dustman in Rotherham before getting a second chance with Barnsley 15 months ago.

With Derrick Parker and Glyn Riley injured, Colin was called up to partner Trevor Aylott in a Barnsley side that had already dumped out First Division teams Swansea, Brighton and Manchester City.

Colin summed up his debut: "People say you never remember your debut, but I'll remember everything."

Mike's misery

MIKE Robinson, Brighton's Republic of Ireland striker, has received another injury setback.

Out of the game for a month with knee ligament trouble, he suffered a recurrence of the injury during the FA Cup third round replay victory over non-League Barnet.

He limped out of the 3-1 win in the first half and faces another lengthy absence.

'I've been forced out' says Alan

WALSALL striker Alan Buckley, who guided the Midlands club to promotion from the Fourth Division two seasons ago, wants a transfer.

He is unhappy at the club decision to put Neil Martin in sole charge of the first team after they had begun the season as joint managers.

"I feel I have been forced into this position," says the 30-year-old player, who sandwiched a brief spell with Birmingham during his two periods with Walsall.

"There is no personality clash with Neil — but I do not think I am his kind of player."

Alan has spent recent matches on the substitute's bench.

Steve's Welsh target

WREXHAM'S 19-year-old striker Steve Jones has one burning ambition — to play for Wales at every level.

He has already represented his country at schoolboy and youth level and is now battling to earn a regular spot in his home team, Wrexham.

Steve, who joined Wrexham straight from school, made his League debut against Luton in March last year.

He's a fair Rugby Union player, too, having played for North Wales at Under-13, 15 and 18 level. Basketball, cricket and swimming honours for N. Wales have also come his way.

England honour Taylor

AN England team is to play Manchester City at Maine Road on Tuesday, February 9, in a testimonial game in aid of the family of former England coach Bill Taylor, who died suddenly last month.

BARNWELL BOWS OUT

JOHN Barnwell became the first manager to part company with a First Division club this season when he resigned at the start of the New Year.

After several disagreements with club chairman Harry Marshall, the former Peterborough manager decided to quit.

During his three years at Molineux, Wolves won the League Cup and reached two FA Cup semi-finals.

'Scandalous' says Barnes

THE most audacious bid of the season came from lowly Fourth Division club Halifax.

Their colourful chairman, Mr Sam Rorke, actually approached Yorkshire neighbours Leeds United about signing England winger Peter Barnes on a month's loan.

The £900,000 forward, out of favour at Elland Road, described the move as 'scandalous'.

The Halifax chief admitted that the offer was somewhat 'cheeky' but added: "It just occurred to me that Peter Barnes would have been better off in our first team than in Leeds Reserves."

Leeds manager Allan Clarke simply rejected the approach without discussing it with his costly winger.

Right: Wynton Rufer — darling of the 'Kiwis' and, one day, hopefully the Canaries too!

Why a Kiwi flew round the World to join the Canaries . . .

BIRDS OF A FEATHER!

NORWICH City, relegated from the First Division last season, have little in common at the moment with East Anglian rivals Ipswich.

But at last the 'Canaries' can share one distinction with their more illustrious neighbours . . . they've got their own World Cup goalscoring hero.

Ipswich can claim the 'toast of England' in Paul Mariner, whose Wembley winner against Hungary last November clinched Ron Greenwood's much-maligned team a place in Spain.

Now Norwich can put the spotlight on new teenage striker Wynton Rufer.

He's hardly a household name to rival the Ipswich forward.

In fact, his only claim to fame in this country is a handful of appearances in Norwich reserves.

But back home in his native New Zealand, he's the 'darling of the Kiwis', for it was his goal against China which earned his country a passage into the World Cup Finals for the first time.

So while his England and regional counterpart prepares for Spain in the heat of First Division battle, young Wynton might have to be content with a few reserve matches.

But in just a few short months, he has become something of a national hero and achieved an ambition to join an English club.

His arrival at Norwich earlier this season, along with brother Shane, stemmed from a summer visit of 'Canaries' forward Peter Mendham to widen his experience in New Zealand.

Part of the deal was to invite two or three New Zealand players to the East Anglian club for trials.

Wynton, who sacrificed his job as a trainee shipping manager to seek fame and fortune on the other side of the world, did enough to convince manager Ken Brown that he could make it, but brother Shane wasn't so lucky and returned home.

Ambition

"I played about a dozen matches in the Norwich reserve side before being called up to join the New Zealand World Cup squad in the Middle East," says the 19-year-old who has eight international caps.

"It had always been an ambition of mine to play in England, and it was great to be able to come to a club where I knew at least one of the players.

"I hope that playing in the World Cup qualifying matches will have widened my experience and boosted confidence so, when the time comes, I'm ready for Second Division football.

"Obviously I hope to make an impression in England and hopefully one day get a chance to play in the First Division."

As he attempts to come to terms with the British winter, young Wynton can at least look forward to the Spanish sunshine.

He scored four goals in New Zealand's last three matches, including what proved to be the winner against China in the Singapore play-off to see who accompanied Kuwait to the Finals.

"I wouldn't say we were the best team in the group with regard to individual skill, but I believe we were the best organised and deserved to qualify," he says.

"All the players in New Zealand are part-time with some of the better ones having joined Australian clubs as professionals. But all the top coaches in New Zealand are English.

"Having never played against any of the major soccer nations, it's difficult to assess our chances in the World Cup.

"Obviously we are not going to win it, but on the other hand I don't think we will disgrace ourselves.

"I suppose we could get hammered 9-0 or produce some surprises like North Korea did in England in 1966.

"I'm looking forward to the challenge."

BATSON LIVES IN HOPE...

BRENDON Batson believes it would take a "drastic" loss of form for any of the current England team to lose their places in the run-up to Spain.

But Brendon, who recently patched up his differences with West Brom after more than a month on the transfer list, lives in hope... at least of making the squad.

And as one of the most accomplished right-backs in the business, his hope is fully justified.

Capped

Liverpool's Phil Neal (currently first choice), Nottingham Forest's Viv Anderson, Leeds' Trevor Cherry and Ipswich skipper Mick Mills have all filled the England right-back berth during the last five years.

So a new man for the number two shirt is far from out of the question. And Brendon was capped on three occasions for the England 'B' side last year.

A MONTH ago, defender Brendon Batson looked set to quit West Brom — the club that gave him his First Division chance.

Now he's happy to be staying at The Hawthorns and here he talks of his 'about-turn' decision... and his hopes at international level.

He told Match Weekly: "Any player worth his salt has got to believe he has a chance of playing for England.

"International honours have come late for me. My England 'B' caps last year were my first at any level so I regard them as a bonus.

"But I still live in hope. I'm playing as well as I've ever played now, but if my best's not good enough then I have to accept that.

"If I'm honest, I believe it would take a really drastic loss of form for anyone to lose their place in the England team.

"I only need to look at my team-mate Derek Statham when I say that. He must be wondering what he's got to do to get a chance.

Effort

"Of course to get in the 22 for Spain would be the chance of a lifetime. All I can do is give it my best effort," says Brendon who will be 29 next month.

And the former Cambridge United player is in exactly the right frame of mind to do just that now that he has declared his intention to see his contract through with West Brom.

"I believe going on the transfer list did me good. It's completely cleared the air and I know now I have a future at West Brom.

"Manager Ronnie Allen twice asked me to come off the list and that helped make up my mind that I was wanted by the club.

"Looking back, I think it was a case of me getting caught up in all the transfer upheavals at the club.

"There was a little friction between myself and the manager and I wasn't playing particularly well at the time.

"My form wasn't consistent enough. I didn't feel at ease so I had a talk with the manager and asked for a move. I didn't feel I had a future with West Bromwich Albion.

"He told me that if he could find the right replacement and a good enough offer for me came in he would let me go, but he wasn't prepared to leave the side weakened in any way.

"Because I was still under contract, any approaches would have been made through the club but I know Manchester City came in.

"You can only stay on the list for so long, however, and now after a clear-the-air meeting, I'm happy to be staying at West Brom.

Happy

"I didn't want to leave the club because I've had four very happy years with Albion and I didn't want to uproot my family with my eldest child having started school.

"I've always enjoyed my football here, I'm much happier with my form now and I believe the club has as good a chance as any other of winning honours."

Derek Statham — "He must be wondering what he's got to do to get a chance at international level."

Southampton and Terry, who's now with Sheffield Wednesday, lost the final at Wembley 3-2.

MATCH WINNERS

SIX super Bill Shankly colour prints are on their way to the winners of our Liverpool competition, which appeared in the January 9 issue.

The winners are: Gordon Walker, Bootle, Liverpool; Andrew Farley, Fowey, Cornwall; H. Kassim, Sanderstead, Surrey; N. A. Matkin, Walsgrove, Coventry; Stephen Cutter, Walthamstow, London E17; Robert Ashfield, Penn, Wolverhampton.

Ricky Villa, our Argentinean midfielder star, couldn't get past the security guards on duty in our new stand.

A PETER Shilton super show stopped us beating Nottingham Forest by at least four clear goals as we marched into the semi-finals of the League Cup.

The England 'keeper also became the first man in six years to stop one of my penalties when he saved two of my spot kicks in as many minutes during a series of amazing incidents.

The drama unfolded when Garth Crooks was brought down by Forest defender Bryn Gunn in the area. I must admit that I didn't think it was a foul but the referee awarded a penalty.

I hammered my first shot to Peter's right but he did very well to beat it out. To my relief, the referee gave me another chance because some Forest players had encroached into the area.

When the arguing from the visiting players had died down, I drove my second effort to Peter's right and scored.

But to my amazement, the referee ordered me to take the kick for a third time because he claimed some of our players had crept into the area.

By this time, the whole thing was becoming a bit of a lottery and it was getting difficult to concentrate. I changed my direction again and Peter proved his world class with an incredible save.

Funnily enough, I missed a penalty earlier that day when I cracked the ball against the post in a practice match. I was persuaded to have a go even though I don't like taking spot kicks on the day of the match. I don't think I'll ever do it again!

Ossie Ardiles made sure that we came within sight of Wembley again when he scored the only goal of the game.

Forest keeper Peter Shilton put up a tremendous performance in our League Cup tie at White Hart Lane.

England midfielder Glenn Hoddle writes exclusively for Match. Here he talks about Spurs' latest Cup success against Nottingham Forest.

SHOWDOWN WITH SHILTON!

Penalty hero Peter shows his class, says

GLENN HODDLE

Left: My penalty beats Everton keeper Jim Arnold in our League meeting at home earlier this season. If I get a penalty on Saturday against them I hope I don't have to go through the same routine as I did against Forest.

But we've got to shut thoughts of Wembley out of our minds because we've got so many other competitions to concentrate on.

Our League Cup tie against Forest marked the opening of our new stand and, though it's a marvellous building, it's a bit like Colditz to get into!

There are so many security men around making sure that only people with the proper passes can get in. Our Argentinian international Ricky Villa was refused entry to one section because the guard didn't recognise him!

The dressing rooms make a warm and roomy change from the cabins we've been having to change in over the past couple of months and the whole place is luxurious.

The talking point of last week has been the World Cup draw which has paired us with France, Czechoslovakia and Kuwait.

And although we could have had a far more difficult group — like poor Scotland — it's not going to be easy.

Even Kuwait will have to be watched very carefully. Teams like that will always snatch a point here and there and could well spoil someone's chances of qualifying for the later stages.

Spurs know a little more than most about the so-called 'no-hopers' of Kuwait because we beat their national team 3-1 in a friendly a couple of years back.

Although tactically they are miles behind us, they could still spring some surprises. They are very skilful, fast and can produce the unexpected.

It's lucky that we don't play them until last. By then, they'll have played a couple of games and lost much of their enthusiasm.

But the World Cup is the last thing on my mind as I prepare for our League game against Everton at Goodison Park on Saturday.

We'll be going up there looking for a win so that we can keep up the pressure on the First Division leaders. No matter how many cup competitions we are in, there's no guarantee that we'll reach the final of any of them.

The title is the prize that the players want to win and we'll be determined to do the double over the Merseysiders.

Earlier this season we beat them 3-0 at home and I scored our last goal from the spot.

I must admit that they didn't impress me much then, but they've since added Adrian Heath from Stoke to their midfield.

Adrian is a player I've always rated and if he can settle down quickly, I'm sure he'll do very well there. He should respond to having better players around him.

FOOTBALL CRAZY

One time England captain and now Q.P.R. reserve Gerry Francis talks to Match about his decision to turn down 'permanent' First Division football . . .

Why Coventry's NOT for me!

'Even if Man. Utd. tried to sign me I'd say no.'

FORMER England skipper Gerry Francis doesn't want to take up Coventry's offer of 'permanent' First Division football.

Gerry was languishing in the Queen's Park Rangers reserve team before his old boss Dave Sexton took him to Highfield Road on a month's loan.

And although the Midlands club are keen to make the move permanent, Gerry is reluctant to move out of London where he has many business interests.

"Even if Manchester United or Liverpool tried to sign me now the answer would be no," explained Gerry.

"I'm 30-years-old and I haven't got that long left as a player. I've got to look to the future and my business interests are very important to me.

"United tried to sign me when I was 26. If the deal had gone through then I'd have had no hesitation in making the move from London.

"But I'm delighted that Coventry have given me the chance of playing First Division football again. I know I'm still good enough."

Gerry returned to Q.P.R., the club where he started his career, in February last year after a short spell with Crystal Palace. But this season his first team chances have been limited and he's played just seven Second Division games.

"I was injured against Rotherham in November when I crashed into the goalpost. Since then I haven't played in the first team even though I've been fit.

"Although I don't want to leave Rangers, reserve team football is no good to me at my age.

"One of the problems this season is that I've only played in my proper role once. I've been played at sweeper but the role I prefer is in midfield."

Despite his tribulations at Rangers, Gerry doesn't regret his return to the club where he first made his name.

"I left Palace because I couldn't get on with the people coming in. Queen's Park Rangers have the potential to get back into the First Division and I believe they'll do it."

Gerry's career has been beset by injury and his last appearance for England was as captain in 1976 when he led his country to a 4-1 World Cup qualifying win over Finland.

"I realise that I've said goodbye to my England career," said Gerry, who's made over 400 League appearances in his time with Palace and Rangers.

"Now I'm really looking forward to helping Coventry. I'm used to working with youngsters. I had the same job at Palace."

Looking to the future Gerry hopes to carve out a career in the game. He says: "I've been a player-coach at Palace and I'd like to further my career in that side of the game.

"But my only interest at the moment is helping Coventry climb up the First Division."

Ironically, Gerry was due to make his debut against the team that wanted to sign him a couple of years back — Manchester United.

But the Old Trafford club had to postpone the First Division fixture because the Manchester pitch was frozen.

Coventry hastily re-arranged a game with League leaders Ipswich and Gerry made his first appearance for the Midlands club in their 4-2 defeat.

ENGLAND skipper Kevin Keegan is to judge our super World Cup competition.

Select a star-studded side from the 24 World Cup finalists, and you've a chance of winning a great book about the world's greatest soccer tournament.

Match columnist Kevin will choose the six teams he considers the best, and the lucky winners will each receive the absorbing book "The History Of The World Cup" by leading soccer writer Brian Glanville.

The book, first published in 1973, has been brought up to date to include accounts of the 1974 and 1978 competitions.

It is the only comprehensive history in existence of the world's top soccer competition. It contains teams and statistical summaries of every tournament since it began in 1930.

The book is published by Faber and Faber Ltd and costs £2.95.

The World Cup finalists have until the beginning of June to announce their final squads of 22, but all the world's top players are bound to be on view.

There's an abundance of talent from which to select your all-star eleven.

The South Americans will be sending outstanding players like Argentina's Diego Maradona and Brazil's Zico.

European 'Footballer of the Year' Karl-Heinz Rummenigge will be spearheading the powerful West German challenge, and don't overlook the skills of Italy's Marco Tardelli, Hungary's enigmatic Tibor Nyalasi, Russia's Oleg Blokhin and France's Michel Platini.

When you have arrived at a team you feel could conquer the world, write it on a postcard and send it to:

"World Cup Competition", Match Weekly, Stirling House, Bretton Court, Bretton, Peterborough PE3 8DZ.

Entries must reach us by Friday, February 5 and results will appear in the February 20 issue.

FAIRY-TALE FULL BACK!

Stunned Ryan gets a First Division recall at 34!

JOHN Ryan talks to Match Weekly about his fairy-tale return to First Division action at the age of 34 . . .

"UNBELIEVABLE" . . . that's the only word new Manchester City full back John Ryan could select from his extensive vocabulary to describe his shock move from Fourth Division Sheffield United.

Just picture the scene on a quiet Thursday afternoon.

One minute John is relaxing in front of the television preparing for a Division Four clash with fellow promotion rivals Wigan.

The next, he's on the way to Maine Road for a First Division date with Stoke City and the possibility of a coaching position when his contract ends next season.

"I know that unbelievable is an over-used word in football, but it seems to fit this situation," says the popular former Fulham, Luton, Norwich and Seattle utility player.

"To be plucked from the Fourth Division to the First at any age is fantastic.

"But when it happens at the age of 34 and you move to one of the biggest clubs in the country with a possible coaching job at the end of it, well, it is unbelievable.

"There are a lot of players more experienced than me who never get a job when they finish playing.

"But here I've got one lined-up with a team that is bidding for the First Division Championship."

John recalled the dramatic phone call which re-united him with his former Norwich boss John Bond:

"The telephone rang around mid-day while I was watching television. I told my wife to say that I wasn't in.

"She came back into the room and said that the boss wanted to speak to me. I have always referred to John Bond as the boss.

"I wonder what that pest wants?" I asked her.

"How do you fancy playing in the First Division again," said the City boss.

"It may be only for a couple of games while Ray Ranson is out, but if I think you deserve to be in the side, then you'll be in it.

"And there will be a coaching job when it becomes available, probably next year.

"Can you get to Maine Road in time to beat the signing deadline?"

"My reaction was quite obvious: I'll get to Maine Road on time if I have to fly," I told him.

"Being very friendly with John's son Kevin, I had often been to Maine Road to watch City. I must admit that there were times when I felt really envious of the players.

"City's style is very much like that of Norwich a few years ago and I often felt that I could still do a good job in the First Division.

"But I never dreamed that I would ever get the chance again.

"I must admit that I was really nervous against Stoke but I think I did well considering I hadn't played in the First Division for around three years.

"I hope I can get a few more games in the first team before the end of the season, either at full back or in midfield."

John returned from Seattle nearly two years ago in the hope of landing a coaching job in England.

That's why he linked up with his former Luton manager Harry Haslam at Sheffield United.

"I was being lined up as coach when Martin Peters eventually stepped up to manage the side, but the move came quicker than expected," explains John.

"As a result, Martin didn't think I was experienced enough to be his number two at that time, which was something of a disappointment.

"But it has been an education to watch new manager Ian Porterfield build a team from scratch and I'm grateful to him for releasing me because it has left him with a big gap to fill in the United team.

"If it hadn't been for the coaching chance at the end of my playing contract, then he told me he wouldn't have released me."

ALAN BALL

Talks about his return to the First Division with Southampton

MARCHING IN WITH THE SAINTS!

SOUTHAMPTON were fourth from the bottom of the Second Division when I joined them in December 1976.

People thought I was mad to take my talents from the top flight to help a team battling desperately to avoid relegation to the Third Division.

But I knew that manager Lawrie McMenemy was on the right lines at The Dell and, at the end of my first season on the south coast, we'd managed a respectable ninth in the League.

The club had a lot of good players on their staff at the time — players of the ability of former Chelsea and England striker Peter Osgood and Scottish international Ted MacDougall.

We had a very good home record but just couldn't keep up the consistency away. However, following the purchase of central defender Chris Nicholl from Aston Villa in the close season, I was convinced we'd be promoted in 1977-78.

And I was right. We lost just two of our last 23 games and finished runners-up to Bolton Wanderers. The other team to come up with us were Spurs.

Manchester United and Spurs were both relegated to the Second Division in the seventies and the experience has done them no harm at all.

They have both enjoyed success since their return to the top flight. A spell in the Second Division serves to show teams that they've got no divine right to a place in the First Division.

Lawrie McMenemy had built a team full of experience. He wasn't scared to buy characters and we repaid him with promotion.

Our first season back in the First Division saw us finish 14th and enjoy very good runs in both cup competitions.

We reached the final of the League Cup only to go down 3-2 to Nottingham Forest after taking the lead through skipper David Peach.

Forest clinched the Cup for the second year running with two goals from their young striker Garry Birtles (now at Manchester United) and one from Tony Woodcock.

It was bitter disappointment to me because, once again, I'd finished up as a Wembley loser in a domestic cup final.

In the FA Cup, we went out to my old club Arsenal 2-0. The Gunners went on to win the trophy by beating Manchester United

At the end of the season, Lawrie McMenemy rewarded me for my three years hard work. He told me that Philadelphia Furries wanted me to play for them and he'd agreed to let me go.

"You've earned a working holiday in the sun. Take up their offer," he told me.

It was anything but a holiday for me. Playing for the Furries was simply hard work. We didn't have a good team and we struggled.

My second season in America with Vancouver Whitecaps was much more enjoyable because we finally ended New York Cosmos' domination by winning the Soccer Bowl.

Our team were nicknamed the 'English Mafia' because we had so many stars from Britain in the side. Playing with me in that team were stars like Kevin Hector (Derby), Trevor Whymark (Grimsby), Roger Kenyon (former Everton) and John Craven.

I thoroughly enjoyed my spell in America even though I'll never play there again. I've seen it all and have no wish to go back.

NEXT WEEK... managerial problems at troubled Blackpool... Southampton's championship challenge... my future.

Antognoni on the way back

ITALIAN midfield star Giancarlo Antognoni, who almost died in a collision with a goalkeeper during a League match earlier this season, should be available for the World Cup Finals.

BRAZIL ARE WORTHY FAVOURITES

BRAZIL'S amazing international record for 1981 confirms their ranking as favourites for the World Cup.

In 16 international matches during the year, they lost only one and chalked up 12 wins, scoring 35 goals against nine.

The only team to beat Brazil was Uruguay, in the Gold Cup tournament in Montevideo.

Meanwhile, Brazilian manager Tele Santana reckons Spain could pose a big threat to his country's hopes of winning the World Cup.

He maintains they are the second most dangerous side in the Finals behind West Germany. His top four challengers to Brazil's bid for their fourth world title are: West Germany, Spain, Belgium and Argentina.

Roma burning to sign Zico!

ITALIAN Championship chasers Roma are chasing Brazilian World Cup star Zico.

The club's president, Dino Viola, says he is willing to pay three million dollars for Zico's services next season and so dismiss the rivalry of AC Milan for the striker's signature.

"Milan failed in their bid last summer because they did not convince Zico. We are convinced that he will be playing for Roma next season," adds Snr Viola.

GERMANS RULE IN EUROPE

WEST GERMANY were Europe's top team last year, according to top football magazine France Football.

During the year, the powerful Germans were unbeaten against European opposition, losing three matches out of 11.

Argentina and Brazil (twice) were the only sides to topple the Germans.

Equal second in the rankings were Russia and greatly improved Yugoslavia.

Fourth were Hungary, followed by Scotland, Spain, Poland, Denmark, Switzerland and Belgium.

England and Northern Ireland finished 15th equal, one place ahead of Eire. Wales were 20th.

England's record in 1981 read: Played nine, won two, drew two, lost five.

Scotland's was: Played nine, won five, drew two, lost two.

Spain, the World Cup hosts, won seven of their 14 fixtures.

PEPE'S UNDER PRESSURE

TWO goals from Real Sociedad striker Jesus Satrustegui gave Spain a boost when they defeated European Championship runners-up Belgium 2-0 in Valencia.

But the result didn't please everyone and Spanish manager Pepe Santamaria is coming under fire for not playing orthodox wingers.

This has meant no place in the current side for Real Madrid winger Juanito, the match winner for Spain when they beat England 2-1 at Wembley last March.

But if Santamaria does opt for a winger, then Real Sociedad's Roberto Ufarte could push Juanito for that role.

The 23-year-old has been receiving all kinds of garlands from Spanish soccer writers.

ASTON Villa can win the battle of champions past and present on Saturday.

Liverpool's visit to Villa Park promises to provide five-star entertainment.

After shaky starts, both former title holders Liverpool and current title champions Villa have produced performances to suggest they are far from finished this season.

So, weather permitting, the fans are in for a feast and I believe it's the home supporters who will go home happy.

Dennis Mortimer's return from injury has given Villa the boost they needed and, with Tony Morley looking really sharp — his confidence boosted by his England debut — Liverpool will have a tough job getting a result.

For Liverpool, Eire international Ronnie Whelan is fast making a name for himself as a danger man and he's one for the champions to watch closely, but it's Villa for me . . . 1-0.

Meanwhile, up in Manchester, City will be looking for revenge against Birmingham.

They were beaten 3-0 at St Andrews

earlier this season but John Bond's men can settle the score.

My special guest opponent this week is Match reader Paul Wilson of Waltham Abbey, Essex, and you can see his predictions alongside mine in the special panel.

MATCH FACTS is a unique results service, providing you with a remarkably detailed guide to League, League Cup and FA Cup games in England and Scotland.

There are several things that make Match Facts considerably better than other less complete services.

Firstly, it is BANG up-to-date, bringing you all the information on the previous week's games only four days after each Saturday's programme.

It also provides EXTRA information... like an entertainment value of up to five stars for each game and star ratings out of ten for each player's performance.

Each month these player ratings determine the Matchman of the Month in each of the four English divisions plus the Scottish Premier.

Match Facts also includes League tables and the extra bonus of the leading scorers in each division.

No wonder it is recognised as the best by Britain's top football statisticians. No other publication provides such a service.

THE GRAEME SOUNESS COLUMN

LIVERPOOL could be playing Barnsley again next season . . . in the First Division.

That's my view even though we beat them 3-1 in the League Cup Quarter Final replay at Oakwell. Quite simply they provided us with our hardest game yet in the competition.

It wouldn't surprise me if they get promoted to the top flight this time around. They are as good as many First Division teams.

They are a very workmanlike side who battle hard and don't give you a minute to settle on the ball. But after our 0-0 draw at Anfield we knew what to expect from them and we battled just as hard as they did in the replay.

When you're playing a team like Barnsley you can't rely on ability. You've got to roll up your sleeves and fight.

The game was tough and physical, but in the end we deserved to win — although they gave us some anxious moments.

One player in their team who particularly impressed me was striker Trevor Aylott. The former Chelsea star has a lot of skill for a big man.

The game also provided me with a rare goal — only my second of the season.

As I said in a previous column, I've never had so many goalscoring chances in a season before, but the ball just hasn't been going in the net.

It was particularly pleasing to see my volley fly past their keeper. I hope there's more to come now.

Before we can start thinking about defending our League Cup crown at Wembley we've got to beat Bobby Robson's Ipswich in the toughest draw of the Semi-Finals.

But the lads know what we've got to do and I'm quietly confident that we can beat the First Division leaders.

The last four of this year's competition — ourselves, Ipswich, West Brom and Tottenham — could be classed as the four best teams in England. That shows you just how difficult it is going to be win the trophy this time.

Being involved in the final stages of a cup competition at this time of the season is great for the players. After we won the Cup last year we went from strength to strength.

There's no doubt that victory over West Ham in the Final spurred us on to win the European Cup.

The Liverpool skipper looks at his side's defence of the League Cup . . . and pays tribute to their defeated Quarter-Final opponents . . .

SUPER TYKES!

Barnsley gave us our toughest test

Looking back I've had a great start to my spell as captain of Liverpool and it's a job I'm really enjoying.

Apart from my school side, Liverpool are the first team I've captained, so it was a bit of a surprise when boss Bob Paisley asked me to do the job. The only other time I'd led Liverpool out was during a friendly in Dublin this season when Phil Thompson was on England duty.

I felt sorry for Phil when he lost the job, but he's a professional and there's no bad feeling between us. In fact, since he's been relieved of the job I believe he's been playing his best football of the season.

I expect to hold on to my new job for as long as Liverpool are winning. Once we start losing I expect to lose the captaincy.

This Saturday we visit League Champions Aston Villa and we're determined to get revenge for the 2-0 defeat they inflicted on us last season at their place.

They are suffering an indifferent spell this season after taking the title but I know they'll give us a run for their money.

One man who always has a good game against us is their keeper Jimmy Rimmer. He's the man we must beat if we're to win.

KEVIN'S KILLER BLOW!

REEVES RUBS SALT IN LIVERPOOL'S WOUNDS

KEVIN REEVES (Man. City) v Liverpool, Division One, Anfield, Saturday, Dec., 26, 1981.

If ever a goal rubbed salt in the wounds of a crestfallen side then Manchester City's Kevin Reeves produced it in the surprise 3-1 victory at Liverpool.

With a rare home defeat staring the European Champions in the face after Kevin Bond had restored City's lead from the penalty spot, the former England striker almost casually flicked home a crushing third goal in the dying seconds for good measure. His near post cheek concluded a sweetly executed City move that completely spreadeagled the flimsy covering of an attack-committed Liverpool.

Tommy Hutchison orchestrated the attack in midfield with a probing ball to Ray Ranson on the right.

He in turn fed young Steve Kinsey down the flank, who, picked out Kevin Reeves in the area.

The £1 million striker timed his run to perfection to leave Phil Thompson stranded, and he literally back-heeled the low of a bemused Bruce Grobbelaar and an upright.

It added insult to injury to Liverpool, but for City it ended a wait of more than 25 years for a victory at Anfield.

STEVE

I ACHIEVED one of the greatest ambitions of my life this month when I signed a new five-year contract with Manchester United.

I've always wanted to spend the bulk of my career at Old Trafford and Ron Atkinson gave me the chance to fulfil that dream when he offered me a new deal.

My original contract wasn't due to run out until the summer, but after the Joe Jordan affair in the close season, United are keen to renew agreements as soon as possible.

Joe was allowed to join Italy's AC Milan for next to nothing when he became a free agent last summer. Since then, the club have been wary of contracts that are coming up for renewal.

The manager has the framework of a good team on long-term contracts. I know that 'keeper Gary Bailey and Scottish defender Arthur Albiston have just signed new deals and that's got to be good news for the future.

Young Everton winger Alan Irvine impressed me with his performance against United at Old Trafford.

COPPELL'S COLUMN

Behind the scenes at Old Trafford with the Manchester United favourite . . .

I'll be nearly 32 when my commitment to the club ends and, in the next five years, I hope to add some silverware to my collection.

Unfortunately, it won't be an FA Cup winners medal this season, following our 1-0 defeat at the hands of Second Division Watford.

I missed the Cup clash through injury and had to endure 90 minutes of hell from the stands. I'm not a good watcher at the best of times and this match was one of the most frustrating I've ever sat through.

On the day, Watford were the better team and deserved to win. It would have been a travesty of justice if they had not.

A couple of days later, we missed a great chance to go top of the First Division when we drew 1-1 with Everton at Old Trafford.

I made a shock return to the first team for that game because, with less than two hours to go before kick-off, I wasn't expecting to play.

In fact, I'd spent most of the day training alongside Ashley Grimes and Mike Duxbury, who are also injured, and was exhausted when I arrived at the club hotel for our pre-match meal.

But Lou Macari went down with 'flu and Ron Atkinson asked me if I could get through a game.

Howard Kendall's men worked very hard and deserved their point. Having said that, if we are to make a realistic challenge for the title, we must win our home games.

I was very impressed by two of their players — winger Alan Irvine and goalscorer Graeme Sharpe. Young Alan looked full of confidence and wasn't scared to take players on and beat them.

On Saturday, we have another chance to keep up with the leading pack when we travel to Wales for a game against John Toshack's Swansea.

They've suffered a lean spell recently after taking the First Division by storm early on, but we know that they'll be no easy touch.

We beat them at Old Trafford earlier this season thanks to the only goal of the game by Garry Birtles. Another three points at their expense will suit me fine.

Manchester is buzzing at the moment because both teams are challenging for honours this season. It can only be good for the city to have both teams doing so well because it creates a great atmosphere.

One of the main reasons for City's revival has been the form of my England team-mate Trevor Francis.

If you ask manager John Bond who's been his most important signing, he'll tell you it's the former Forest striker. City look much more incisive whenever he's playing.

It's good to see him going so well in view of his injury problems. He's returned from two big setbacks in his career and is playing as well as ever.

But I'm sure that come the end of the season, we'll be kings of Manchester!

Steve Coppel

Bonnie Scots

TWO players who deserve to be in Jock Stein's Scottish World Cup squad for Spain are Dundee United's Ralph Milne and Luton Town's Jake Findlay.

At present, Milne is the most exciting player in Scottish football. He can play in midfield or up front and is tremendous in any position.

Findlay has been brilliant for Luton over the past three seasons and has been instrumental in pushing the Hatters clear of their Second Division rivals this term.

Jock should give both of them a chance before he names his squad for Spain.

PENALTY BLUNDER

WHAT a terrible decision the referee made in the Brighton v Barnet FA Cup Third Round replay when he gave a penalty against a Barnet defender for bringing down Andy Ritchie.

Ritchie pushed the Barnet player in the back, and when he fell, Ritchie tumbled over him.

That decision killed off Barnet because at the time they were only 2-1 down and still in with a chance.

Robert Dakin, Thurgoland, Sheffield.

Martin O'Neill in his Nottingham Forest days — the club were wrong to sell stars like him says Adam Ridler.

Black Forest

NOTTINGHAM Forest's shock home defeat by Wrexham in the FA Cup shows that Forest are in decline following the sale of their stars.

After watching Forest for five years, I am sure that their current team is the worst they have fielded. Wrexham ran rings round them in the second half of the Third Round Cup-tie.

When you consider that the club has sold Trevor Francis (now with Manchester City), Garry Birtles (Manchester City), Tony Woodcock (Cologne), Frank Gray and Kenny Burns (Leeds) and Martin O'Neill (Manchester City), you begin to wonder if the club is pursuing the right policy.

WHEN the worst of the winter weather arrives, football in this country becomes a lottery.

Other European countries have a mid-winter break, and I think this makes a lot of sense.

If soccer was called off for a few weeks, both the players and the fans would come back to the game refreshed and bursting with anticipation.

BOND... LICENSED TO WORK MIRACLES

MATCH reader Graham Mims said in Terrace Talk that Manchester City were wrong to buy Kevin Bond.

As Graham's a Liverpool fan — I'm a City supporter — he said that it would be easy for Liverpool to beat City this season. How wrong can you be!

City trounced Liverpool 3-1 at Anfield on Boxing Day . . . and Kevin Bond scored from the penalty spot!

I'm convinced City will qualify for Europe this season and Trevor Francis will be the First Division's leading scorer.

And the man who must take the credit is Kevin's dad, John Bond. He took over at Maine Road when City were bottom, took them to the FA Cup Final and the League Cup Semi-Finals and has now built a terrific team.

At least five City players, Tommy Caton, Kevin Bond, Nicky Reid, Kevin Reeves and Francis should be in Ron Greenwood's World Cup squad.

Christopher Streeter, Colchester, Essex.

Kiwi plea

WE live in New Zealand and are faithful readers of Match Weekly.

In April and May this year, we plan to visit Britain and watch as many football matches as we can.

Unfortunately, we have no contacts in Britain and we would be very pleased to hear from any Match reader who would be able to help us in our travels and show us to grounds.

Three of us plan to make the trip. We are aged 21-23.

Robert Rietveld, 147 Tennessee Ave, Mangere East, Auckland, New Zealand.

Champagne Perryman

I AM astonished that England manager Ron Greenwood has yet to include Tottenham full back Steve Perryman in his national team.

Justice was done when Steve's splendid service for Spurs was rewarded with an FA Cup Final win last year, and Steve has been playing even better this season.

I'm sure England would not have lost their World Cup qualifier in Norway if Steve's battling skills had been called upon.

Ron must call up the Tottenham skipper for this summer's World Cup Finals in Spain.

G. Porter (12), Leytonstone, London.

Switch keepers, Billy

NORTHERN Ireland's boss, Billy Bingham, should follow the example of England manager Ron Greenwood and alternate his goalkeepers.

Although Pat Jennings is a fine keeper, Middlesbrough's Jim Platt should be given regular internationals. Jim is one of the most dedicated professionals in the game.

John Carson, Farringdon, Sunderland, Tyne and Wear.

SAINTS&Sinners

I'M outraged about Match Weekly's predictions for the New Year in your 'Stars of 82' feature.

How can Southampton win the FA Cup when they were dumped out by Leicester City in the Third Round? Not very close to the mark there, were you?

And fancy saying England will win the World Cup when they only qualified by the narrowest margin.

Stephen Sudlow, Warrington, Cheshire.

ROUGH JUSTICE

I AM outraged about your biased comment on Scottish goalkeepers, saying they were "funnier than most comedy shows".

Nothing is further from the truth. Alan Rough has done well for Scotland for almost six years and has kept Partick Thistle in the Scottish Premier Division.

You only see rare mistakes made by Scottish 'keepers picked out and exaggerated by English television.

Ray Clemence wasn't so clever when he joined Tottenham and Dai Davies has made a few mistakes recently.

So my advice to the English media is stop picking on Scottish 'keepers!

Robert Hosie, Carntyne, Glasgow.

● IT'S Scottish League goalies that are doing the picking. They pick the ball out of the net so often, they get backache. You're booked.

Ban the minnows

I AM outraged that non-League clubs are allowed to compete in the FA Cup.

They don't stand a chance against any decent League club. It's a complete waste of time letting them in.

Colin Pogue, Gillingham, Kent.

● LITTLE Barnet didn't do so bad against First Division Brighton, did they? You're booked.

Far from purr- fect!

I'm outraged that Ron Greenwood has the nerve to take the England squad to Spain for the World Cup Finals.

No doubt the country will be made a laughing stock again, just like we were when England lost in Norway.

If England manage to win one game in the Finals, I will eat my cat!

T. Orchin, Orpington, Kent.

● I'VE heard of hot dogs, but that's ridiculous! You're booked . . . for cruelty to animals.

TOO MANY IMPORTS

I AM outraged at the number of foreign players now with English clubs.

Surely this limits the chances home-bred talent have of making the grade in League football.

Foreigners go home!

Darren Talbot (10), Esher, Surrey.

● FOOTBALL skill is welcome whatever part of the world it comes from. You're booked.

TREVOR MAKES BURNLEY BUBBLE

OVER the years, Burnley have always had a glowing reputation for producing outstanding players from within their youth ranks.

And it has often been a source of complaint among the Turf Moor fraternity that their home-grown talent has blossomed in other pastures.

That's an argument that club officials solidly counter by referring to the mounting problems of balancing the books of a small town club.

Players like former England international Martin Dobson, Dave Thomas, Welsh pair Brian Flynn and Leighton James, and the bustling Steve Kindon were all guided along the road to stardom from the less fashionable surroundings of industrial Lancashire.

The present star shining forth from the lower reaches of the Third Division, where this once-proud Division One club currently stands, is 18-year-old midfielder Trevor Steven, who has added youthful exuberance to the experience of Martin Dobson and Northern Ireland international Tommy Cassidy.

The former apprentice professional, from the border town of Berwick, got a taste of League life towards the end of last season as a substitute.

This season, the gifted youngster has taken his chance with both hands to the extent that he was Match Weekly's Third Division Player of the Month in September.

And there are already growing signs that he could eventually follow in the footsteps of the Flynn's, James's and Kindon's.

The former England schoolboy international has his long-term ambitions homed in on the First Division, but at the moment his sole aim is to help Burnley back into Division Two.

"Like any other ambitious young player starting in the game, I want to play in the First Division," he says.

"I would hope that I might achieve that with Burnley, but if that's not possible in the future then I might have to go elsewhere.

"But at the moment, I am concentrating on helping Burnley back into the Second Division.

"We struggled at the start of the season. We didn't get the best of luck and confidence suffered.

"Every time we made a mistake, we seemed to be punished, but things have gradually changed and the ball has run a little more kindly for us.

"We have found some consistency and have by no means given up hope this season of rejoining the promotion race, particularly with three points for a win."

Trevor, spotted by a Burnley scout while playing a schools match in Newcastle, has been on their books since he was 14.

Clubs like Newcastle, Sunderland, Celtic and Rangers all made overtures in his direction, but he has no regrets about joining Burnley.

"The club have been very good to me and my parents.

"Since I signed for them at 14 I have always had the desire to be a professional footballer. I never thought of anything else.

"I was hoping for an early opportunity in the League side and fortunately I got the chance.

"I came into the side instead of Tommy Cassidy in the third game of the season and have never looked back.

"At the time, I thought it was just a temporary promotion from the reserves and I just went out and did my best.

"Fortunately, I've been able to keep my place in the side and it's great to play alongside the likes of Martin Dobson and Tommy because they are so experienced."

ENGLAND CAN BOUNCE CZECHS

SAYS BRIAN FLYNN

WALES skipper Brian Flynn, whose side came so close to qualifying for the World Cup Finals, believes England have the best chance of carrying the British flag into the second stage of the Spanish tournament.

The Leeds midfield dynamo feels England are capable of defeating Czechoslovakia, the team who denied the Welsh a passport to the sunshine showdown.

But he doesn't rate too highly the prospects of Scotland against the powerful Russians, who topped Wales' qualifying group and took three points from them in the process.

Wales went down 2-0 in Czechoslovakia after achieving a 1-0 success in Cardiff, but little Brian wasn't too impressed.

"They are not the side of a few years ago, but they are still capable of toppling the best sides on their day," he says.

"We didn't play well in Prague and they didn't either. They got a rather fortunate opening goal and then caught us again when we were pushing forward.

"But they are not the greatest travellers in the world and on Spanish soil I feel England can defeat them.

"The dangers to England could be Nehoda, who has been around for some time and a player called Jurkemik, but, overall, I fancy England will overcome them."

But Brian believes Scotland will have to defeat World Cup favourites Brazil in their group if they are to stand a chance of reaching the second phase.

At 14-1, Britain rates the Russians as a good bet for the championship and feels they will at least reach the semi-finals.

"Scotland must produce two very good performances against Brazil and Russia. I think they will need three points from these games to stand a chance.

"The Russians were most impressive in the two matches against us and I rate them as highly as the West Germans in Europe.

"They are a very well organised side, in defence and midfield, and up front they've got a lot of pace with players like Blokhin and Shengalia.

"Players like Chivadze and Kipiani are also outstanding performers and their goalkeeper, Dasev, also caught the eye."

"So it looks as though Scotland have it all to do." What of the chances of little Northern Ireland?

"With a little bit of luck, they could make it if they can get a good result against Yugoslavia who seem to be going through a transitional period, but Spain are the obvious favourites in that group."

WORLD CUP

POWERFUL Eastern bloc teams Russia and Czechoslovakia and the enigmatic French pose the major threats to the progress of England and Scotland in the World Cup Finals.

England are in the same group as France and the Czechs, while Scotland face the might of Russia along with World Cup favourites Brazil.

Wales finished third to the Iron Curtain duo in the qualifying stages and skipper Brian Flynn assesses the prospects of the home challenge.

And his Eire midfield adversary, Mick Martin, gives his verdict on France, who denied his country a place in the Spanish sun this summer . . .

LET'S GET PHYSICAL!

THAT'S THE WAY TO BEAT FRENCH says MICK MARTIN

PAUL Mariner and Peter Withe are the men who could unlock the French defence for England in their World Cup opener in Spain.

That's the view of Eire international Mick Martin, who played against the French twice in his country's unsuccessful attempts to reach the finals.

The Newcastle midfield star told Match: "The French don't like the physical game and that's why I believe that big strikers like Paul and Peter could unsettle them.

"With Manchester United's Steve Coppell or Aston Villa's Tony Morley on the wing to supply the crosses, I believe England could be on a winner.

Eire, who missed out on qualifying for Spain on goal difference, beat France 3-2 in Dublin but lost 2-0 in Paris.

"The French are full of individual flair. They've got players who are capable of scoring goals from anywhere, but they don't like the physical stuff. That's where England could win.

"France's main asset is that they are so quick. Their one-touch football can turn defence into attack," added the former West Brom and Manchester United player.

"There's no doubt that they were the best team in our qualifying group," said Mick, "and I believe they'll go through to the second round alongside England.

"When you talk about France, the name Michel Platini is the first one that comes to mind. And he's the player that most impressed me.

"He played as a link man between the midfield and attack in Dublin and he needs to be marked all the time. England can't afford to let him roam," added Mick.

"The game against France will be decided in the middle of the field. If England can tie that up, I've no doubt that they'll win," he added.
